

Group 1 Emirates Doncaster

Sydney R7 – 3:55pm Emirates Doncaster Hcp (G1) 1600m $2,250,000

Royal Randwick 1600m

| TRACK: HEAVY | SPEED: GOOD |

BACK	MIDFIELD - HANDY				LEAD
			Mr Ubiquitous (15)
		Shinzig (13)	Mentality (14)	Apache Cat (11)	The Free Stater (10)
Swick (16)	Activation (5)	High Cee (12)	Casino Prince (7)	Danzippo (9)	Beauty Watch (3)
Anamato (8)	Divine Madonna (4)		Haradasun (1)	Aqua D'Amore (6)	Flaming (2)

INSIDE RAIL ⇨

Mr Racing's Predicted Finishing Order:

1 st	11 HARADASUN (G.Boss)	$4.5	A good lightweight's race & G Boss knows how to win it on run-on horses
2 nd	1 Apache Cat (D.Oliver)	$5.0	Weather and track conditions has only enhanced his chances. Go well.
3 rd	6 Divine Madonna (D.Dunn)	$7.0	May have been cruelled by the conditions. Expect her to still hit the line.
4 th	4 Mentality (D.Beadman)	$7.5	Who would be game to leave out Hawkes/Beadman. 3yo... Leading hope.

Best Roughie (Place):

14 Beauty Watch (D.Beasley) $9.0 Untried in anything worse than Dead. Should go forward. Smokey.

Lay (Win):

3 Aqua D'Amore (H.Bowman) $21.0 Great group mare, and a model of consistency, but the wet rules her out

Summary:

I opposed him last start, thinking the boom was unwarranted, but fancy him today. I speak of Haradasun. I have always suspected this horse has had his share of problems, and my opinion didn't change at all when he ran off the track, laying out like a sore/green horse, to win the Ryder. That said, I am faced with a dilemma here, as he is bred to swim and the soft going suits his feet. He could eat the ground up in this Doncaster, which is a good race for 3yo's. Fence is some concern. Divine Madonna would have been my top pick if the track was good, and Mentality will improve up to the Randwick Mile. Raced a bit flat in the George Ryder, coming back to 1500 from a brilliant mile win. Apache Cat commands respect in the conditions. Was never going to finish his race off last start after racing too keenly. His wide draw may not be such a bad thing, by this time of the day. For roughie and value punters, look towards Beauty Watch and The Free Stater.