Mr Racing's Selections:

Rated Comments:

1st	8 Maldivian (M Rodd)	$2.75	The one they all have to beat, and will dictate terms to suit himself.
2nd	5 Maybe Better (C Brown)	$7.50	Looks the value runner and will give one hell of a sight for followers.
3rd	18 Master O'Reilly (V Duric)	$10.0	Prefer to wait till Flemington to spec him, but he will be hitting the line.

Best Roughie:

7 Purple Moon (K McEvoy)	$16.0	Impossible to ignore an in-form N.Hemisphere stayer in a weak cups year.
---------------------------------	--------	--

Betting Suggestions:

Maybe Better at around $3.30 the place, looks better value than Maldivian at 2.40 win. Perhaps 1x3 Maybe Better.

Race Summary:

I learned a long time ago in racing, don't show too much pride to get on a bandwagon. I didn't back Maldivian for any of the future/features, but was on him when demolishing at Moonee Valley and thought he was a good thing the start prior, when beaten at Flemington. Make no mistake, he is weighted to win a Caulfield Cup and don't make the mistake of getting too wide to find one to beat him. He has all the credentials and form to do it, and I expect he can win in Mummify/Elvstroem type fashion, from the top of the speed. Maybe Better has warmed nicely towards his Grand Final – Caulfield Cup / Melbourne Cup. Racing much more like a stayer now, I expect Brown to try and find the fence on him and will be a little closer in the run today up to 2400m. Good value on an each-way basis to roll the hotpot. I think Master O'Reilly is the logical next pick, although I'm keener to wait for Flemington for him. If looking for a blouser, then the value may be with the import Purple Moon. Sure, I'm speculating, but this is not a strong year, and this horse is in form and can stay, if there are chinks in his opponents armour on the day.
